

Post Halloween Spook Show

Horror movies are a genre all to themselves and hold their own place in film history. Our speaker for this program is Galen Wilkes. Galen is a scholar and showman fascinated with the turn-of-the-century years. He has been collecting films since the 1970s and enjoys bringing the early 20th century alive to his audiences.

Galen will provide historical background of this film genre and then preview a few films from the 1890s through the 1930s. The preview will include silent and early sound films, both dramatic and comic horror films. Some of them are the earliest type of horror films in existence. Many include special effects which were all done manually. This promises to be a varied program — dramatic, comedic, and all entertaining.

Pretty fascinating stuff, so join us!
